

Legislate For Human Needs Says Mr. King

Speaking from Ottawa over a national hook-up arranged by the Canadian radio commission, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, in the second of pre-election speeches said on Friday night the "Liberalism holds personality more sacred than property, and the Liberal party will devote itself to finding means of distributing the wealth of the nation with increasing regard to human needs."

The speaker declared that his party would go into the election on the 14-point platform enunciated in 1933. This platform had been endorsed by Liberal victories in federal by-elections and provincial general elections. Neither the Liberal party nor its leader saw any reason for changing them, as time had shown they met the needs of Canada today, he said.

The Canadian people were sick of promises, said Mr. King. They wanted to know where parties stood on the problems of the day, what their policies were, and what their underlying principles.

He said the Liberal party would offer no armful of promises and advised his hearer to consider the promises made by other parties in the light of the Bennett government's failure to fulfill its 1930 promises.

The 14 points of the Liberal platform were:

1. A representative national commission to administer unemployment relief and provide work and a national

A show which is a prestige feature, that assumes the status of an extraordinary event is coming to the Elite on Saturday and Monday next in "David Copperfield."

This wonderful MGM comedy-drama is truly an unusual picture and is in addition just as truly an educational feature: being a faithful picture of the famous book by Dickens. It reflects completely the personalities of the times with which it deals, and is directed and acted in the full spirit which characterizes the original work. It is a masterpiece of achievement, and no play-goer should miss this big attraction for Saturday and Monday evening next. It is certainly a fitting climax for the last evening of our Fair and is being held over for the Monday showing.

Morrison to Carry Conservative Banner

To represent the Conservative party in the Federal riding of Battle River, Mr. J. W. G. Morrison, of Vermilion, was nominated at the annual meeting of the association which was held in Wainwright last week. The endorsement was the unanimous choice of those gathered there, some fifty in all.

The nominee spoke at some length on the principles and policies of the party he stood for, and the meeting was also addressed by Mr. J. W. Ogilvie, Conservative candidate in the West Edmonton riding and Mr. J. Buchanan, of Edmonton.

Preserving Alta. Wild Duck Population

CALGARY—Chances of Alberta ducks being included in an international census improved on Tuesday as Arthur M. Bartley, of New York, vice-president of the "More Game Birds in America," made preliminary arrangements for an authentic tally.

At a meeting yesterday, Mr. Bartley, who flew from New York to Winnipeg last Saturday and later proceeded by plane here, urged the Southern Alberta Fish and Game Protective Association to co-operate in the endeavor to assure a continuous supply of wild fowl.

The New Yorker will leave for Edmonton in a few days and stated Manitoba and Saskatchewan and Alberta will be included in the duck census. Restoration of breeding grounds, maintenance of water levels, provision of food and shelter and protection from predatory birds and animals are among the objectives of the foundation.

ALL IN ORDER FOR WAINWRIGHT'S BIG FAIR

During the past week, Secretary Bill Stuart has been busy filing the entries for the big 1935 fair which is slated for Friday and Saturday of this week, and which, given fine weather promises to eclipse all previous efforts along these lines.

It is expected that record will be set up in the live stock exhibit, and the ladies will not be far behind in the entry lists peculiar to their side of the exhibition.

The Crescent Amusement Co. which will provide the big midway attractions are expected to pull in some time on Thursday night, so as to have all in readiness for the opening at noon of Friday.

Intermediate ball games will occupy the big diamond on the first day of the fair, and on Saturday, the celebrated Shasta-Royals, of Edmonton, are playing a double-header in the senior ball tournament. On both days, softball will be on the programme with a nice array of teams trying out conclusions for the money game up.

With a number of rides, and side-shows and concessions galore the fair directors have thus provided for the lighter side of the two-days holiday, and the refreshment end of the affair is being well looked after by the ladies from a couple of the churches in town.

Altogether, Friday and Saturday next promise "the thrill of the year"—so load up the whole family and—LET'S GO! Public school children are admitted free as well as vehicles, but the directors of the association assume no responsibility for accidents.

Sask.-Wain. Oil & Gas Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Oil and Gas Co., Ltd., was held in the company's office in Saskatoon, last week, when the retiring board of directors were elected. This was accomplished only by President Chier exercising his right to rule out proxies, which if used might have produced a different result.

Following the shareholders' meeting, a meeting of the directors was held, and on July 30th a further directors' meeting was held to meet Mr. J. W. Fraser (whose proxies were ruled out). A satisfactory settlement of all difficulties was made, and a court action avoided.

The Saskatchewan directors and Mr. Fraser are quite satisfied with the Wainwright district, where they drilled the first well free from water and with a satisfactory grade of oil.

Crop Stagnant Says Bank of Montreal

Below will be found a brief synopsis of telegraphic reports received at the head office of the Bank of Montreal from its branches whose managers have complete and intimate knowledge of each local situation and are in close touch with crop conditions:

General. With the intense humidity and extreme heat which have been conducive to a rapid development of rust in Manitoba and Saskatchewan and with extensive areas of Alberta and Saskatchewan suffering from lack of moisture, crops in the Prairies generally have shown further deterioration during the past week. In Quebec, with weather conditions generally favorable, crop prospects are satisfactory. Hot weather in Ontario has helped field crops to mature rapidly and threshing of fall wheat has commenced. Yields of from 20 to 40 bushels per acre are reported, with quality below expectations. Throughout the Maritimes conditions generally are satisfactory, but while recent rains have improved pastures, warm dry weather would now be beneficial to crops as a whole. In British Columbia, the continued warm weather has benefited crops generally and the outlook is more favorable than it was a month ago. Except on Vancouver Island, moisture conditions are satisfactory.

Although late, the wheat crop is generally good in the central and northern areas where moisture is sufficient. Crops in the south, while improved by recent rains, have suffered from drought and will be light. The best crop and crops on irrigated land are in good condition. Pastures are good in the north, but poor to fair in the south. Some districts have suffered extensive damage from hail.

Saskatchewan. The condition of the wheat crop shows wide variation. Moisture is urgently needed over western and northern districts to ensure proper filling of heads, while rust is developing rapidly in southern, eastern and central areas. Coarse grains are fairly promising and the hay crop is good.

Manitoba. Rust infection of extremely virulent type is more or less general, and serious loss in yield and grade of bread wheats has already been inflicted to some extent with rust.

Edmonton Normal Re-Opens in Sept.

Arrangements are practically complete for the re-opening in September of the Edmonton Normal school, G. Fred McNally, deputy minister of education, stated on Friday.

Mr. McNally declared that Dr. G. S. Lord, former principal of the school, who has been on the staff of the Calgary Normal since the local school was closed, will be back at the helm.

Also on the staff will be Dr. J. R. Luck, Dr. D. J. Dickie, R. W. Headley and G. M. Dunlop, all of whom served when the school was previously functioning.

Only candidates for first class will be drawn from the Edmonton district with space available from 100 to 150. An appropriation of $11,000 was voted at the last session of the legislature to take care of operation of the school for the coming academic year.

Electors not on the voters' list will have an opportunity of being added to the supplementary list if application to enumerators is made prior to Aug. 20, two days prior to the general election. Otherwise qualified persons may cast their ballots on being "sworn" on election day.

Mr. Reynolds, the returning officer, states that he is hopeful no many would resort to this course, as ample opportunity was being granted to register beforehand.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Goulet, who have been holidaying at the coast during their past month's auto trip, have now returned home.

Auburndale Gets Big S. C. Picnic

A pleasant time was spent on Saturday last and an account of which from the official reporter of the organization reads as follows:

The Autumn Leaf Social Credit Study Group held a successful and well attended picnic on Saturday, July 27th, on section eleven of school lands, three quarters of a mile south of Auburn Lake School. Lunches and refreshments of all kinds were served.

The picnic, which had been previously well advertised and broadcasted, had been postponed on two occasions on account of rains, from Wednesday, July 17 and Friday, July 20th, but the heavy rains assured the district good crops, and this somewhat eased the disappointment felt on the two occasions when the picnic had to be postponed.

Rousing addresses were given by four Social Credit speakers: Mr. Granigan of Irma, Mr. Locke, the Social Credit delegate for the Irma group, Mr. W. Masson, Social Credit candidate for Battle River, and Mayor W. A. Fallow of Vermilion, Social Credit candidate for the Victoria constituency.

Mr. Granigan spoke very sincerely in support of Social Credit. He said he was sure it was a step in the right direction, and with the brains behind it, he had no doubt that it would work out satisfactorily to everyone. He implored the people to support Mr. W. Masson, their Social Credit candidate in the next election.

Mr. Locke, Social Credit delegate for the Irma group in his earnest talk to the people on Social Credit, said it was the aim of Mr. Aberhart and his followers to bring prosperity to the country; to find occupations for the unemployed and to do away with the humiliation of relief and relief camps; to find positions for the thousands of young men and women who are graduating from our colleges every year, and who, under the present system, had nothing to hope for, to institute state medicine and dentistry, widows and old-age pensions; to institute just prices and to do away with the old capitalist system, and he was glad to say that in that Mr. Aberhart was an able leader, and that we should stand solidly behind him and our representative, Mr. Masson.

Wainwright Wins Double From Viking Boys Sunday

Apparently out of their slump the local ball team stepped out and helped themselves to two wins on Sunday afternoon last, both being at the expense of the Viking boys. They won the first game with plenty of margin, the score being 9-4; the second game, being somewhat closer, with a 4-2 count.

Wainwright took an early two-run lead in the first inning. Ches. Spornitz, the first man to bat cracked out a nice single and R. Ganderton reached first through an error.

After advancing to second and third they both scored when the left fielder dropped a long fly. From then on Watkins, the Viking chucker, tightened up and gave out his hits very sparingly and there was no more scoring done by the locals until the seventh inning.

McLaren and R. Darrah both scored in the third inning for Viking to tie up the score. Paul Spornitz, who pitched the first three innings for Bill's boys, issued McLaren a walk and then was touched for a single by Darrah, both of these players getting a hit.

"Skinny" Odell Glives Local Lead. Wainwright stepped up in front again in the seventh frame. Reg. Coffield after reaching first off a single came in when "Skinny" poked out a long hit to left field for three bases.

This lead was almost insurmountable, but Phil Stuart after working his way round to third off a single was caught out at the plate on a throw from second base.

They added two more runs to their score in the eighth inning. Ches. Spornitz and R. Ganderton being the two runners to cross the plate, getting a single and R. Ganderton a walk, both coming in when V. Coffield singled.

The ninth inning saw Wainwright run in no less than four runs to pile up a decisive lead. The game "on ice," Reg. Coffield, Johnson, Ches. Spornitz and R. Ganderton all scoring. These four runs were the result of some timely hitting and a few costly errors. Reg. Coffield hit out a single and Johnson and V. Coffield both hit for two bases.

Viking staged a rally in the last half of the ninth and were rewarded with two runs with the last man going out with the bases loaded. Dr. Richardson who had been swinging hard all day received his first hit.

Sam then threw Jones one that suited him and he slammed out a three-base hit scoring the doctor. Sam then struck out the next two men and this was followed by a few high balls which resulted in three men getting a pass for first scoring. Jones. With the bases loaded and two out Dobry was trying hard to break up the ball game with a hit but the best he did was to get it a (Continued on page 5)

Aeroplane Service at Jasper Park

It is now possible to view the beautiful mountain and lake scenery of Jasper Park, Canada's largest national playground, from the air. The hotel department of the Canadian national railways advise that arrangements are now in effect for this service on Lac Beauvert, which is located immediately in front of Jasper Park Lodge. From this base air excursions may be taken to Maligne Lake, Athabasca Lake, the Tonquin Valley and around Mount Robson, these areas containing some of the finest scenery to be found in the Canadian Rockies.

Big Road Program Is Election Promise

Promise of a $10,000,000 road building program in Alberta if the Conservative party is elected to power in the provincial election, was made by D. Duggan, provincial leader, at a meeting held at Leduc on Wednesday evening last. Dr. W. A. Atkinson of Edmonton also spoke at the meet which was held in the interests of Mr. M. E. V. Amerongen, Conservative candidate for the Leduc constituency.

Mr. Duggan spoke very sincerely in support of Social Credit. He said he was sure it was a step in the right direction, and with the brains behind it, he had no doubt that it would work out satisfactorily to everyone. He implored the people to support Mr. W. Cereal Crops Field Day at Lacombe

The annual Cereal Crops Field Day will be held at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, on Wednesday, August 14th. This is always one of the largest and most important Field Days of the summer and this year there are several new varieties, and many marked differences of yield, earliness, strength of straw and general suitability, which distinguish varieties as adapted or not adapted to Alberta conditions of soil and climate.

The one thousand plots of the Dominion Crop Testing plant will make a most interesting subject for comparison and discussion. This year there is a total of 6,427 plots under test at the Experimental Station. Grain growing experts of Canada will take part in the discussions and answer questions and an address will be given by Mr. Newman, the Dominion cerealist.

The Experimental Station will provide coffee, cups, cream and sugar. Visitors will please bring their luncheon. The programme will commence at 1 p.m., or immediately after lunch.

A number of young ladies of town enjoyed a shower party at the home of Miss H. Clouston on Thursday afternoon last, in honor of Mrs. V. A. Ganderton, who is leaving shortly for the west coast.

The report indicated the infection had spread through an area larger than that estimated earlier in the Dominion government's crop report, which said 2,000,000 acres in Manitoba had been infected by the disease.

During the past 10 or 12 days rust has developed rapidly on all varieties of wheat except Durums, says the report, and "no previous year probably has seen a worse attack in this province." It is practically certain many fields cannot produce wheat that will grade above number four or five at best," the report adds.

OPPORTUNITY

Whenever I hear people complain that there are no opportunities for them I begin to wonder just what they mean. Often I discover that they think of "opportunity" as a chance to jump right out of school into a well-paid, easy job, with short hours, long week-ends and generous vacations.

It is true that that sort of opportunity no longer exists. What is more, it never did exist!

There is always a place, though for the intelligent, industrious and ambitious boy or girl who really wants to work, is not afraid of long hours and low wages to start with, and has good health and good habits.

In these times it often takes more time to find such an opportunity than it did a few years ago, but the seeker who gives up after one or two discouragements demonstrates that he is not the sort of a person employers are looking for.

LUCK

I have a friend who started his business career at the same time that I did, in the same town, and at the same wages—$12 a week. Now he is the head of one of the largest business corporations in the world. I asked him once how he had climbed so far.

"Luck," he replied. "That's how most folk get wherever they are. But don't misunderstand me. When I say 'luck' I don't mean blind chance. Luck has to be stimulated." He stimulated his own luck not only by mastering his own job but by preparing himself all the time to step into the next higher job. He made it a point to keep in perfect physical condition and to indulge no bad habits. He studied how to make a good impression on his superiors and associates.

"Window-dressing is as important for the individual as for the store," he said, "but you've got to have the goods on your shelves."

HELP

Under my friend's direction the great corporation which he heads takes great pains to help its 60,000 or more workers to "stimulate their luck." Every employee who shows signs of special ability, and of ambition to get ahead, can count on a helping hand.

"The only way to run a big business successfully," my friend, once said to me, "is to show everyone in the organization the door of hope, and encourage them all to find their way through it. That, and to put just as much in their pay envelopes as can possibly be done."

BOY

The son of one of my village neighbors has been doing odd jobs around my country place for three of four years, after school, Saturdays and in vacations. Last month he graduated from our town high school, with high marks.

"What are you going to do now, John?" I asked him. He dropped the handle of the lawnmower and straightened up.

"I'm going to college," he said. "I don't know how, but I'm going. I've got to work my way—dad can't help me, with my seven younger brothers and sisters to bring up—but I'm going to hitch-hike to New York and look for a job."

I am smiling at his enthusiasm, but did not discourage him. Neither did I encourage the idea of a country boy seeking work in New York these hard times.

"If you got there, look me up John," I said, and gave him my New York office address. Sure enough, a week later, John showed up.

I thought of my friend of whom I have just been talking. I wrote a note to him and gave it to John. "Try your luck there," I said.

Next day I got a letter from my friend. The head of a great company had personally interviewed a green country boy and—had given him a job!

Now it is up to John.

STIMULATION

It is easy to say that John was lucky in knowing a man who knew a man whose company hires a lot of boys. The answer to that is that I wouldn't have sent John to my friend if John had not been "stimulating his luck" so far as I am concerned, for four or five years.

Unconsciously John had been demonstrating to me that he has the qualities of intelligence, ambition, resourcefulness, industry and—most important of all character, which could not fail to open the door of opportunity for him.

I was glad to hand him the key to that door, for I believe John will make good use of his chance. All I did, though, was to shorten the time it might have taken him to find his opportunity.

To The ELECTORS

Electoral Division of WAINWRIGHT

After a lapse of five years, you will go to the Polls on August 22nd, to elect a member for a new Legislative Assembly, and having been honored with the nomination by the Liberal Party for the Wainwright Constituency, I solicit YOUR VOTE AND INFLUENCE to represent you in the next Alberta Government.

The problems confronting the electorate of this Province are of the gravest importance, and without parallel in the history of Canada.

To understand the needs of the electors and to cope with these problems, the leader of the Liberal Party in the past two years has held Economic Conferences in all parts of the Province, in the course of which he interviewed people in every walk of life, occupation and vocation.

As a result of these conferences the Alberta Liberal Party drew up a platform covering the problems of all classes of the people as expressed by the people themselves, which set out specifically what must be done by the new Liberal Government in order to effect changes and reforms necessary to bring about a much higher standard of living throughout the Province.

The platform, a copy of which has been mailed to you, or may be had on request, plainly indicates that the Liberal Party appreciates changes and reforms necessary in this Province if we are to eliminate the grim spectre of poverty.

I wish to refer to a few outstanding features as set out in the platform referred to above, that should be given your first attention and consideration.

MONETARY REFORM: We insist on a properly constituted, publicly owned and controlled National Bank working in the interest of the masses rather than in the interest of a few, for the purpose of providing a drastic reduction in interest rates.

MARKETS FOR CANADIAN WHEAT: To find a market for our wheat by a vigorous advertising campaign in foreign countries.

NATURAL RESOURCES: To encourage all existing and new industries, and to develop our Natural Resources for the benefit of the people not the monopolies. Particularly in the Wainwright constituency it is very desirable that the Oilfields here receive every encouragement for full and complete development, and this will be one of my main endeavors as representative of this constituency, as well as to definitely work for the general development of all parts of Alberta.

A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION: The Public Debt has increased during the regime of the U.F.A. Government by many million dollars, and the interest charges alone amount to over seven million dollars a year. If we are to survive, our Government must economize. Economy is the promise of the Liberal Party.

RELIEF FOR THE OVERBURDENED TAX-PAYER: I subscribe to a redistribution of the burden of taxation, to relieve the home owner of an excessive share of taxes, and divide the burden equitably, on the basis of the ability of the people to pay.

Reduction of tariffs, thereby decreasing the cost of living, the development of industry, reform of labor conditions, to provide employment for all, improvements in educational facilities, and other planks and resolutions of our platform demand your serious attention.

I pledge myself to the people of the Wainwright constituency, if elected, to support a more business-like administration in provincial affairs, and particularly to represent ALL the people of this constituency, irrespective of class, calling, or political views.

Yours sincerely,
PETER MILNE.

THE PROPER CARE OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

Auto Top Mouldings

ANOTHER thing to watch in the care of your automobile is that the top fabric does not crack along the mouldings. This is a danger that exists only on the more recent model cars. On older models, the top fabric covered the entire top of the car and extended down the side. On the newer cars, however, this fabric is set in a panel on the top and is fastened at the edges with moulding.

In previous articles it was told how the top fabric, if not taken care of, will develop cracking, which eventually starts cracks. A danger point for these cracks is along the moulding. Even the tops of new cars occasionally develop

A FEW WORDS TO YOU

ABOUT THE C.N.R.

During the 1934 the average number of persons employed by Canadian National railways was 74,774, and the wages paid them came to almost one hundred million dollars. This represented, both as to number employed and amount of payroll, an advance over 1933, and practically the whole increase in personnel was due to re-employment of those whose services had previously been discontinued with owing to lack of business.

AUTO CAMPS

REAL ASSET

At a time when progress is being made in completing this season an all-weather highway to Jasper National Park, while other parks of similar standard, visitors are going to be interested more than ever in the auto camp facilities in this province.

One of the first questions is in relation to the auto camps. People want to know where they are located and what they have to offer.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association are urging that municipal authorities, business men's associations or others give immediate attention to auto camp accommodation and Wainwright, which at the present time is lacking in this respect, would do well to see that they are established without delay, if only on a limited scale this year.

Other camps which have been in operation might well stand some overhauling and improvements.

The leadership given by Edmonton, Calgary, and other urban centres might well be heeded at this time. There the camps have been located and operated while their popularity has made it necessary to extend the facilities this year. New cabins have been built, and even with these, there are not sufficient at times to take care of the demands.

Municipal authorities are being impressed with the need of commencing without delay to build up an attractive auto camp. It is an investment in a cash business that will reap good returns, while it is possible that there is no finer type of advantageous advertising than that which gives generous praise to a local auto camp. It sends people away delighted, and the delighted ones invariably return.

For this reason we feel that the move now being made here is truly "a step in the right direction."

THE REASON WHY!

The ranting of amateur radio and other politicians, never heard of till this election, of the evils of the "old line parties", is amusing. They have no record of their own to commend them, and in many cases have been in absolute blank in their respective communities so far as the welfare and governmental activities are concerned. To listen to their castigation of the "old line parties" would lead the uninitiated to believe that the country has been held by the throat and the money plucked from the taxpayers' pockets much as a highwayman would treat his captives.

But let us examine the records. Since Confederation, very many "fly-by-night" parties have arisen, and these, after a brief meteoric career, have passed into oblivion, but the "old line parties" have continued to administer Canada's affairs, and without doubt will continue to do so.

Without a doubt "There's a reason!" Sure, the majority of the people are determined to have responsible government!

ADVERTISING IS EDUCATION

Advertising might well be called "gasoline which runs the motor of business." At any rate, it is the great accelerating power which speeds up business activity.

Critics of advertising and there have been many of them during the past few years—carp at the millions of dollars spent by manufacturers and retailers in telling the public about their products and their services. Such criticism is absurd. If it were not for increased demand stimulated by advertising, goods could not be produced economically enough to be generally obtainable. Mass production would not be possible without mass selling, and mass selling can only be accomplished by advertising. Because of the economies of volume production, advertising has actually lowered the price of merchandise, rather than raised it.

Another criticism of advertising has been that some of it is untruthful. But just as advertising speeds the good product to the heights, its accelerating effect hastens the death of the inferior product. Obviously, then, untruthful advertising defeats its own purpose and cannot thrive. Take any widely used product you will: automobiles, radios, electric refrigerators, toothpaste, and you will find an article which could not find its place in the American scene without the low prices made possible by mass production, which, as I have pointed out, has come as a response to the demand created by advertising. Because advertising has made us want the necessities of life and has enhanced us in how to secure them, the people enjoy a standard of living undreamed of elsewhere on this earth.

WHO FOOTS THE BILL?

The Editor: Dear Sir—The coming Alberta provincial election is one in which every thinking man and woman in the province should have a very special interest.

There are now four major parties here in this field—Liberals, U.F.A., Conservatives, and Social Credit.

The S. C. party is led by Mr. Wm. Aberhart, Calgary high school teacher and local preacher, and the feature—or perhaps I should say the bait—help out by this party to obtain votes, is that the government is to pay dividends of $25 per month to every adult in Alberta, or approximately $120,000,000 a year.

Mr. Aberhart admits that he has NO plan to do as yet, and no one so far has clearly explained where all this money is to come from. All we know that the government can only raise money by taxation, license fees, etc., and at present total provincial revenues in Alberta only amount to slightly over $15,000,000 per annum; therefore it is plain to understand that if this revenue is to be increased to $125,000,000 per annum, the Producers, the Farmers, Business Men, and Wage Earners and they only, will be called upon to foot the bill!

This is something worthy of very serious consideration, and should be thoroughly digested by every voter before going to the poll to cast his ballot. Mr. and Mrs. Voter, think it over well before entrusting your legislative business and powers to such a party; no one can possibly see what may happen if you do!

ECONOMIC STUDENT

The Editor:

Dear Sir: We have been thinking about the Aberhart paper money and have been envying you, Mr. Editor, with your nice big printing press. You will be able to make a nice lot of printed certificates.

"Abe" is now the "Red" political boss, or rather "the Red" is referred to as the Farmers' cutting gophers and muskrats. Oh, the pity of it in a land of plenty. We are gullible, but this is hard to believe. We had occasion to notice several signs of promoters' bread super, mostly farmers with their well-to-do wives and children. We tried not to notice the "spreads" but I am quite sure I smelled fried chicken. Wishful. I'd had some of like Manning to tell me if I really did.

These Sundays we are missing, on the air Mr. As friend and Bro. Neighbor from Georgia or Alabama, U.S.A. We miss those nigger baby stories about the smelly politicians. However, Fred Anderson last day evening quoted from Francis Bacon saying that "Money is like manure; it has to be spread to be any good."

good." Rather a convincing argument for social credit. However, it serves to keep our olfactory nerves alert. Personally we are a little short of money and being over 21 and a bonafide citizen we intend to ask Mr. Aberhart to advance us six months basic dividend and take a much needed holiday.

We saw this rhyme the other day in a daily newspaper: "To Aberhart be kind and true, And he'll put a cheque in the mail for you."

We might add: And if you do not vote for him, He'll "paste" you one on the side of the chin.

Now for a little common sense. In the two year interim in which Mr. Aberhart thinks he can work out a plan what is going to become of all the public works, unemployment relief, mothers allowance, old age pensions, and other necessary services kept up by the government with financial aid from Ottawa. No such aid may be expected if Mr. Aberhart fulfills his office. However, we are not crossing bridges before we come to them, because we intend to stay in Alberta with Mr. Hovson as Premier.

I cannot see why the farmers should vote social credit because as usual they will have to foot the bill. Social credit will be "So much debt." The Austrians are a progressive people. A heavy fine is imposed if a citizen does not use his franchise. We think that a good idea. Australia also voted on Social Credit and there was not one successful candidate when the votes were counted.

CITIZEN

The Editor:

Dear Sir: The following statement is extracted from a Social Credit pamphlet, the authorship of which is admitted by Mr. Aberhart: "All residents of the province who do not co-operate and deal directly and only with the provincial credit house will be assessed heavy taxes for the privilege of doing business in the province."

What does Mr. Aberhart mean by "co-operate"? Does he mean co-operate by accepting the basic dividend—taking the just price? It should not be necessary to threaten heavy taxation to those who would not co-operate in this way. On January 6, speaking over the radio, and in answer to a question, he said he knew what he would have to do to obtain the just price for a car of what, Mr. Aberhart said: "You would ship your wheat in the usual way. You would send the grain ticket you obtained for the wheat to your bank, draw out your cash, and the bank would be issued to you, including the just price. And there we have it. The producers of this province will be required, under Mr. Aberhart's scheme, to turn over the proceeds of their production, whether it be grain, livestock, dairy or poultry, etc., to the state credit house, receiving in return for their Canadian currency credit in the form of non-transferable certificates; and any producer who will not co-operate will be assessed heavy taxes. Too much money cannot be taken from this state of Mr. Aberhart's. A lot of people are not aware of this fact, and now is the time to consider it, and not after the election.

One can visualize certain of our acquaintances approaching Aberhart, but in one hand and grain ticket or hog ticket in the other, saying, "O lord Aberhart, we beg you accept this our production, extend unto us much just price and basic dividend"; and Aberhart replying: "Come hither, O my servant, and be unloosed. However, you got me wrong regarding the benefits of Social Credit. Get thee hence to your hog lot where you belong."

We should remember that the government, as a government, owns nothing. Before it can disburse one dollar for any purpose whatever, the same dollar must first be obtained from the people by levies or taxation in one form or other, and sooner or later the man who is holding credit for his production instead of currency will be left holding nothing but the sack.

CONTINUATION OF

Some of the outstanding features during the session were as follows: Amendments to the B.N.A. Act; unemployment insurance and other social legislation; economic research council Bill; curbing of unemployment camps; public works and housing program; grain board bill; revaluation of gold, etc.

The keenest attention was given to Mr. Spencer's report and full advantage was taken of a question period, particularly with respect to the Wheat Board Bill.

During the business sessions much pleasure was given from time to time, by musical and other items, which were very enjoyable, this was proved by the applause and the continuous encores.

The U.F.W.A. held a separate conference on July 30 when a splendid exhibit of handicraft was shown, the prize being won by the McCafferty local. This was a beautifully made banner, made and presented by Mrs. A. E. Postans, of Heath.

Throughout the whole three days the keenest interest was shown by the people of Alberta to use their own credit; to put the purchasing power in the hands of the people where it belonged and whose cultural heritage it was. He said we have real credit here in Alberta; rich in natural resources; everything we need. Why cannot the people of Alberta use these resources and build their roads, improve their cities and country and put their unemployed to work without having to borrow "money" and wait for permission from Ottawa, who will refer the matter to St. James or Theobalds Street in London, England, who will in turn have to refer the matter to the Bank of International Settlement in Basel or Geneva, Switzerland? False credit, paper rags, he said, are all they have to offer. Alberta has real wealth, real credit, and Social Credit will serve only to enhance the value of these, and will eventually decrease, not increase, taxation.

Mayor W. A. Fallows of Vermilion, the Social Credit candidate for the Victoria constituency, delivered a very able, interesting and rousing address for Social Credit and the change he hoped it would bring about, a change for the better from the last fourteen years of disappointing government for Alberta, trailed off by six years of the worst and most discouraging depression the country has ever passed through. He said he knew by the interested and attentive faces around him that they were all one-hundred per cent for Social Credit, and he heartily expressed himself as ready at all times, and no matter what obstacles were thrown in his way, to promote the interests and welfare of the people of Alberta. Governments, he said, were made to do the will of the people and not the people do the will of governments.

Present on the picnic grounds and representing political groups opposing Social Credit were Dr. H. L. Courmier of Wainwright and Mr. A. Fowler of Edmonton, but they made no offer to address the gathering.

Mr. J. Little the secretary for the Autumn Leaf S.C.S.G. had the misfortune to have his foot painfully injured by a truck at the start of the picnic. We are pleased to report that it is hoped to be all right again in the near future.

The hog bill score was 6-5 in favour of Autumn Leaf. The Auburndale Bluebirds won in softball.

few feet in front of the plate, Ches Spornitz throwing him out at first, ending the game with the final count reading 9-4.

The Viking boys seemed to be having trouble in saving some of the plays in the same way as did the umpire, Allen Harper, and in the ninth inning decided they would like a change of umpire. To soothe their feelings Allen retired from the game and turned the job over to George Clark.

WAINWRIGHT 4 — VIKING 2

The second game of the day being a little late in getting under way had to be called in the sixth inning on account of darkness.

"Barney" Buckle was assigned the job of pitching for the locals in this game and due to one of Vikings' pitchers not making an appearance "Bill" banished them Paul Spornitz for the game and after a rather shaky start Paul pitched a steady game for the visitors.

As in the first game of the day the locals went right to work with the bat and ran in three runs in the first inning. Ches Spornitz, the first man up, took no pity on brother Paul in the opposing pitcher's box and slammed out a long hit for three bases. V. Connel followed him up with a single scoring Ches. Phil Stuart then duplicated Ches Spornitz's act and hit for three bases and later came in. Paul then steadied down and struck out the next two men retiring the side.

V. Connel scored again in the third frame off a three-base hit.

"Barney" who was pitching good ball and receiving excellent support in the outfield held Viking scoreless until the sixth inning, when Watkins and Jones scored due to four errors being committed.

The game was called at this stage by R. E. Armstrong, who handled the game satisfactorily.

THE DIVORCE COURT MURDER

By MILTON PROPPER

SYNOPSIS—Six persons are in the inner office of the law firm of Dawson, McQuire and Locke at Philadelphia. A master hearing in the divorce case of Rowland vs. Rowland is under way. Mrs. Rowland, represented by her lawyer brother, Mr. Willard; Mr. Rowland, the defendant, and his attorney, Mr. Trumbull; the court clerk and Mr. Dawson, the master, are the six persons. There is a new development in the case. After failing to defend himself against the charge of adultery in earlier proceedings, Mr. Rowland dug up evidence and asks the court's permission to produce witnesses and resist the suit. Judge Dawson overrules the heated objections of Mr. Willard, and orders Mr. Trumbull to bring in the first witness. Mr. Trumbull has just gone to an outer office to get the witness and finds her dead—chloroformed. She is Mrs. Barbara Keith, wife of a prominent Philadelphia business man. Judge Dawson phoned for the police. Detective Tommy Rankin is assigned to the case. He is now questioning all of the parties involved in the case. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Rankin nodded, in appreciation of the diabolical effectiveness of the late Tom Marshall's measures. "So, with the divorce goes the management of the estate," he summarized. "But I thought Harvey Willard had means. Both he and your wife inherited from Peter Willard's estate. Why should he need the trusteeship?"

The young man shook his head. "He's not rich any more, and anyhow Adele was willed most of it. Willard's share all disappeared in poor investments and the stock market. And Marshall's will permitted him to spend for his own belief the thirty per cent he didn't need to transfer to his sister—about fifty checks annually. I happen to know he is hard pressed by creditors. Unless he can obtain plenty of funds before July first, he's a ruined man; they will close in and force him into bankruptcy. Adele too must throw good money after bad and won't lend it to him. Only a prompt divorce decree can save him."

"Still," the detective pointed out, "if your wife intends to marry Campbell shortly, what good will that do him? As her husband, he then becomes the Marshall executor and Willard's situation isn't bettered at all."

"Even with temporary control of the estate," Rowland returned, "he might manage to slide out from under." He extinguished his cigarette. "Besides he had no more idea of Adele's intentions in that direction than I had until my spying brought results."

He paused, and after a brief moment for reflection, Rankin acquiesced. "Yes, I can understand that. Now, what did you discover by watching Mrs. Rowland?"

"Two weeks ago I obtained the evidence I needed," Rowland resumed. "It was on the Wednesday evening after the last hearing. I had learned several days before from the chauffeur that Campbell was back in town; and for some evenings I continued my usual watch and trailed them. Then that Wednesday, May 24th, Finley reported he had been dismissed for the evening and also added this significant item: Adele had casually informed him that she was instructed to pack an overnight bag for her."

"Well, right after supper, I took up my watch by the entrance of the Willard estate. Campbell, driving a Cadillac coupe, arrived at eight o'clock, and Adele joined him with her overnight bag. But for the early part of the evening, they did nothing more than sit on the sofa. On occasions, first they went to the Forest Theatre. At seven o'clock, they visited the Organdy Club on Broad Street, but I didn't dare follow them in. Instead, I parked near Campbell's car, looked into it and saw that he too had brought an overnight bag. He and my wife remained in the night club until midnight. And perhaps twenty minutes before they appeared, Mrs. Keith came out of the place by herself and—"

Rankin's interruption was abrupt. "All alone?" he demanded sharply.

"All alone," he demanded sharply.

the casino with her, and several times attended the dog races. Even Adele acted fairly cordially toward her."

"Well, what happened the night you followed your wife and Campbell?" the detective prompted. "Where did they lead you?"

"Out the Park Drive and left on the Ridge Pike," Rowland said. "We passed through Rotherburg and Norristown. At Collegeville we caught up and followed them off to the right, along the narrow country road paralleling Perkiomen Creek. At the end of five miles, they halted finally at a substantial stucco bungalow along the creek. It was then one-thirty."

"Again I drove my car past, about two hundred feet and parked where a clump of trees fringed the road and hid us from the cottage. Campbell produced a key and unlocked the door; then he turned on the lights. I have inquired about it since and learned it belongs to Nick Albert, the manager of the Organdy Club, a friend of Campbell's. Adele was then cautious enough to pull down all the blinds. Still watching silently in the darkness, Mrs. Keith and I could make out they were drinking in the living room. At two-thirty they started to retire and a half hour later Campbell turned out the lights. I considered I had gathered enough evidence against Adele to enter a trail with Mrs. Keith back to the cottage to her suit, so I retraced the trail with Mrs. Keith back to the city."

The speaker concluded his narrative and fell silent until Rankin asked:

"And at no time did your wife and Campbell see you or become suspicious of your presence?"

"Mrs. Keith and I could make out they were drinking in the living room."

"She was at the Organdy Restaurant," "Yes, and it puzzled me too," Rowland replied. "I called her and she explained that she had been to the opera for which Mr. Keith did not care. Because the club was so close by, she went in to see the floor show. I realized, for a married woman in her position, the story didn't ring true. I didn't question her, as it was none of my business and besides the point. I was to thankful for her appearance just when I needed a witness to worry about it."

"You were well enough acquainted with Mrs. Keith to enlist her aid in such a personal matter?"

"The young man made an apologetic gesture. 'I'm afraid I wasn't fair to her and took advantage of her lucky appearance,' he explained persuasively. 'You see, I asked her to join me, but didn't tell her why I wanted her; I only said it would be an important service to me and she was excited and that made her curious and desirous to help me. It wasn't until we were already trailing my wife and Campbell away from the club, toward city limits, that she fully realized the predicament I placed her in. But it was too late then and she was sporty enough to see it through, for my wife's sake, to risk the publicity and gossip and give evidence. If I had over it I could it would end like this."

He left the sentence unfinished, compressing his lips with a sigh, as if he had said something that he regretted. He had never met Mortimore Keith, he said, though, having seen him several times he had recognized him when he entered the room. He could not explain the circumstances, but he had been told to the secretary's description of the incident.

"Including his questions on this circumstance," Rowland thanked Rowland and dismissed him.

His next step was to examine the dead woman's checkbook. Except for two stubs her accounts seemed in perfect order; her expenditures, with the date, purpose or name of payer, and amount, were carefully added. The sums she spent were comparatively small and far from

"I'm practically certain they never realized they were being followed." "Then they and Mr. Willard had no idea in advance with whom they had to reckon? Mr. Trumbull felt reasonably sure they hadn't identified Mrs. Keith as your chief witness before she arrived at the hearing this afternoon?"

Allen Rowland pondered a moment. "That's right, unless Adele noticed her at the night club," he offered at length, "and she probably didn't; her arrival there that night must have been one of the reasons Mrs. Keith left without waiting for her date."

"Yes, I suppose that's possible," Rankin frowned uncertainly. "And you have no other proofs of your wife's identity? Your entire case depended on her?"

"Mrs. Keith's death doesn't leave me a leg to stand on," Rowland replied, a harsh note in his voice. "Alas, the detective shifted the subject. 'Now, just one more point, Mr. Rowland,' he said. 'About the night of Wednesday, February 1st, when Mrs. Rowland caught you and Miss Edmond together at the Sunset Inn, I've found out that immediately after the interruption, Mrs. Keith's husband arrived there. You tell me how he came to be there or what his connection was with—'"

"Your intrigue?"

But as Jill Edmond had done, the young man confessed to be unable to account for the manufacturer's appearance. He had never met Mortimore Keith, he said, though, having seen him several times he had recognized him when he entered the room. He could not explain the circumstances, but he had been told to the secretary's description of the incident.

commensurate. Rankin wondered at her low balance, which never exceeded five thousand dollars, and at present came to less than one.

The two check-stubs which were not identifiable as to purpose, however, indicated exceptionally large sums. One check had been drawn about three months ago, and the past Thursday for two thousand and three thousand dollars, respectively. The only clue to the reason for these withdrawals was the word "personal" written on each stub.

Before the detective could ponder the significance of these entries, a knock interrupted him. At his command, the policeman he had sent to locate Mortimer Keith opened the door and entered the room.

"Yes, Cottman?" Rankin greeted him. "You've been gone a long time. Is Mr. Keith with you?"

"The officer shook his head. 'No, I haven't found him; he isn't in town at all,' he replied. 'It was too late to visit his office, so I called at the Aldwick Apartments and learned from his butler, Stanley, that he had gone away—on business, he thought—to Washington.'"

Rankin pursed his lips in disappointment. "Washington? I suppose you discovered what business took him there and communicated with the people he went to see, Cottman?" the detective inquired.

"No, I did, although I tried to; that's what took me so long. The secretary said he had something to do with the New Ray Silk Company. Neither he nor the butler had any idea at what hotel Mr. Keith might stop, tonight."

"Hotel? Then he isn't expected back today?"

"The policeman shook his head. 'Not until tomorrow,' he answered, 'when he's completed his business.'"

"Well, I imagine we can wait and give him a chance to turn up according to schedule," Rankin said, dismissing Cottman.

Johnson entered as Cottman left. "Finished, Johnson?" asked Rankin. Johnson did not reply until the officer had gone. "I've taken everybody's fingerprints, Tommy," he said, "but I can't make a detailed report until I've had time to study them—say tomorrow morning."

LIBERTY'S CANADIAN HALL OF FAME

No. 13

Canada's most astonishing citizen is Sir William Mulock, ninety-one year old Chief Justice of Ontario and Chancellor of the University of Toronto, the man with the Dominion's most prodigious memory who never takes a note—yet remembers every date, place and face.

Seven decades in the public spotlight, he expects to be in harness when he passes one hundred although exactly when that will be, he doesn't know. The one thing he cannot remember is his age.

He is careful about punctuality, wears a twinkle in his eye that escapes some strangers and legal luminaries who think they can confound him, stands erect and is well over six feet. He is a terror to gangsters and communists but has no personal hates. Loves a lot of things including Empire Club speeches, his Alma Mater and poetry.

Delights in amazing his friends by proving his ability to recite entire poems when prompted by a single line. He also cuts amazing capers one of which was an all night ballroom jamboree when early evening guests at his house had excused themselves thinking that he wanted to go to bed.

He was the first Minister of Labor and the originator of penny postage rates in Canada as well as the first cable stretchers to Australia and New Zealand. He unified the Universities of Toronto and Victoria and correlated the work among the Ontario Schools of Medicine, the Ontario Colleges of Dentistry, Pharmacy, Veterinary, Agriculture.

Sir William is wealthy but it doesn't hamper him. He has enjoyed honors since U of T school days in 1863.

Skeet Shooting

6. THE GAME

THIS is a large subject for a short article, but if the whole series is carefully read and collected, you should have no difficulty in getting hold of the essentials of Skeet Shooting. Moreover, there is a great deal of information available on the subject.

Let us imagine that you have done a little shooting before, and that you are now about to try Skeet Shooting for the first time at the game. You are walking towards Station No. 1 with your gun and a bag of twenty-five shells loaded with number 9 chilled. The first thing to do, of course, is to take up a good position. You must stand at the Station in "an informal field position" which you will understand more clearly when you have read the next article. Cultivate an easy, alert position, with your feet not too far apart so that your body is free to swing in either direction with your gun. Don't forget, you must swing on Skeet birds. There is only one correct way to aim on a moving target and that is to swing with it in its line of flight, fire when you have swung past far enough to provide the proper lead and keep right on swinging as you pull.

This is No. 6 of a series of 12 articles on Skeet Shooting. Cut it out. When all have been clipped, you will have a complete write-up of this sportsman's sport which is rapidly becoming the vogue across Canada.

and at your call of "Mark!" or "Ready," a target is thrown first from the high trap, and then from the low trap. Thus you continue around the Stations in rotation, shooting at two targets from each position, and your first Skeet day is ended.

If you are a good bird shot, you will probably have bagged 50% of the clay birds. Eighteen to twenty is a good average, but whatever your first score, don't allow yourself to become either over-confident or discouraged. Should you wish for more detailed information on this article, or on any of the others in this series, "Brimstone Marksmen," Box 1266, Montreal, will be glad to answer your questions.

RESURRECTION

Another of the series of Judge Rutherford's five-minute Bible studies appears on this page. This is the tenth in the series of eighteen, each of which discusses some outstanding and fundamental doctrine of the Bible. The tendency of many exponents of Scripture to stress relatively unimportant matters and to overlook or neglect the great underlying truths of the Word of God is too frequently the case. Frequent quotations from the Scriptures themselves, as well as indirect reference to their authority, make these talks a valuable means of more fully acquainting oneself with the letter and spirit of the Bible.

THE word "resurrection" means a "standing up again to life." If, as claimed by the clergy, the dead are alive in "purgatory" or some other place, then it follows that there could be no resurrection; and yet there is no truth more clearly taught in the Bible than that of the resurrection of the dead. Death means the absence of life, and resurrection means awakening to life again. If the dead are to live again, they must be resurrected and God has provided that there shall be a resurrection. The basis for the resurrection of the dead is the sacrifice of Christ Jesus. All mankind were born in sin, and the death of the perfect man Jesus provided the purchase price for the right of man to live again, and in due time Jesus will awaken them out of death. Men had been dying for 4,000 years before the death of Jesus, and hence they knew nothing about the value of His death. Men have been dying in ignorance of the value of Jesus' death for the past 1900 years. All of the dead in God's due time shall be awakened out of death, that they may obtain a knowledge of the truth, and then each one for himself must choose to obey God and Christ and live, or else continue in sin and be forever destroyed. Therefore it is written (Acts 24:15): "There shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust."

God has appointed a fixed time for the resurrection of the dead, and that time is during the reign of Christ as King of the world. His reign has now begun, but His first great act is to destroy Satan and his power, and that will be done shortly, at the battle of Armageddon. Then will follow the resurrection of the dead. The resurrection of Christ Jesus is a guarantee that all who have died in ignorance must be awakened out of death and given a knowledge of the truth. For that reason the Scriptural argument, as set forth in 1 Corinthians 15, is this: "If there be no resurrection of the dead, then Christ is not risen, that is a guarantee that all the dead shall rise."

The fact of the resurrection is complete proof that the doctrine of "purgatory," concerning people being in a place of suffering, is entirely false. The Scriptures speak of death as sleep, because man is unconscious when asleep. The dead are asleep in Jesus, for the reason that Jesus has bought the right of man to live. Therefore it is written: "For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him" (1 Thessalonians 4:14). The purpose of the awakening men out of death is to give them an opportunity and trial for life; and this will be given at the appearing of Christ Jesus and His Kingdom. (2 Timothy 4:1) During the reign of Christ death itself will be destroyed, in this, that all who then obey His laws shall live, and the wicked will be completely destroyed. For that reason Jesus said: "And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?"—John 11:26.

Jehovah God in His loving-kindness has provided for the redemption of sinful man from death, through Christ Jesus' sacrifice, and for the resurrection to life of men who believe and obey. The Devil tries to keep the people in total ignorance of this great truth, and for that reason has caused his representatives on earth to teach false doctrines. What the people must now do is to apply themselves to gain an understanding of the Bible, and to that end must provide themselves with the necessary books to enable them to find the texts in the Bible and learn their meaning. You can do this as well in your own home as anywhere else. You owe it to yourself and your family to gain this knowledge. Jehovah's way is always right and true. Learn that way and live.

Death has brought untold sorrow to mankind. The resurrection will bring boundless joy to those who obey God under Christ's kingdom, and concerning which it is written: "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away." (Revelation 21:4)

The faithful Christians will have part in the first resurrection, which means life in the spirit with Christ. The obedient ones on the earth during the reign of Christ will be given everlasting life on the earth in complete happiness.

WIT AND WISDOM

Spring: The time of year when farmers and golfers start their spring plowing.

If you are in doubt whether to kiss a pretty girl, give her the benefit of the doubt.

The real problem of your leisure is to keep other people from using it.

Armies should be for defence, not defiance.

Happy is the mosquito, that can pass the screen test.

"Shall we have a friendly game of cards?" "No, let's play bridge."

Many a woman who can't add can certainly distract.

But all women know enough arithmetic to put two and two together and make scandal of it.

Among the things that seem to grow by leaps and bounds are the children in the apartment overhead.

Defeat isn't bitter if you don't swallow it.

A man who watches the clock generally remains one of the hands.

Young people today are alike in many respects.

There are three great menaces to safe driving in America today: Hic, huke and hug.

The modern girl adores spinning wheels, but she wants four of them and a spare.

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS

No one can be sure that his hidden forces will fail him.

People who never dreamed they could lift much, have in times of dangers carried others to safety.

People who have thought themselves too fearful to tackle some of the new and untried, have shown remarkable courage in a crisis.

People who thought they couldn't do anything but one kind of work in the same old way have adapted themselves successfully to new situations in countless instances during the past few years.

People who thought themselves incapable of great emotional strain have nature's reserves in and for them.

How do you know you can't do that thing you have always wanted to do? Your unused forces are an unpredictable quantity.

The first thing to do is to make up your mind. Possibly you can start that new something without letting go all at once of something which now gives you a sense of security.

Remember what the farmer said to his hired man one cloudy morning: "Of course, it may rain today, but we've got to plan the day's work anyway."

It may be that you can't do that thing you have dreamed of doing but then it will do no harm to plan—and a plan is a step toward fulfillment.

It never pays a politician to go around abusing men they may need to be friendly with later.

A lot of citizens in every place "pass the buck" to the home newspaper to do all the home-town boosting. They should do a little themselves.

Building castles in the air does not build towns and cities. A lot of people in this country are paying more attention to the conduct of others than they do to their own.

Most cities talk much about enforcing safe traffic regulations. Some do—some don't.

It is a good idea to express sound sense in plain words.

Considerable discussion is revolving about "Lady Nancy Astor" as she is referred to by the press in the States. It has to do with the possibilities of her filling the position of Minister of Education in the New British Cabinet.

You can't seem right to any if you don't seem wrong to many.
